The Right Place and The Right Time:

When we have started each one of our churches, we have prayed and trusted the Lord to lead us to the exact place where He would have us start. Each time there has been amazing stories and testimonies that show us how the Lord has guided each of our steps. In our first church, one of the families gave a testimony, a couple of years after starting, that they had been praying that the Lord would send someone to their neighborhood to start a church, and we did. With our last church we searched for almost three months without finding a place to start, so we began at a friends house in an area a few miles father out. When the Lord finally opened the door for the place that the church is now, it was the very first door that we knocked on at the beginning. The owner of the building accepted Christ in the first month that we had services and there is a young man that still comes that is from the first area that might not have gotten saved if we hadn't started their first. Well after several weeks praying and driving through the entire area where we are wanting to start our new church, the Lord has opened the door and we were able to sign the contract this past week and Lord willing we will be making plans over the next couple of weeks to have our first service. We are excited to see what testimonies will be given in the future of how the Lord guided us to this place at this time to preach His word.

New Arrival:

We have been praying for many years that the Lord would send laborers to help us in the harvest here in Bolivia. We praise the Lord and are excited to announce that our missionary friend, Andrew Wilder, arrived this past week to help us in the work. Andrew came for his internship several years ago and has been raising his support and learning the language and now has made it to the field, ready to get to work. We are now helping him get settled, finding a place to live, and getting all the things he needs for his house. We are excited about Andrew being able to work with us in the new church plant both because of what he can learn from the experience and also the help that he will be to us starting the church. Please pray for him as he gets settled and begins to serve the Lord here in the harvest.

The Heavens Declare His Glory:

One of the things that is so amazing about Bolivia is the diversity from one are to another, both in people and landscape. In the east we have the amazon basin with lush jungles and in the west we have the Andes mountains. When you see the landscape, especially in the west, there is no doubt of the flood and the work that God has done in creation. For Christmas this year, our daughter Grace was able to come and visit us here in Bolivia and we were able to travel and see some of these areas. We saw the great Salt Flats that are thirteen thousand feet above sea level and went all the way up to sixteen thousand where we saw volcanic geysers. In between there was amazing scenery with mineral lakes, ancient lava flows and dormant volcanos. It was truly an experience that showed how small we are and how big our creator God truly is.

Prayer Requests:

1. Pray for us as we make plans for our first official service at the new church.
2. Pray for those being affected by Covid and that the churches with not be hindered.
3. Pray for our Bible College classes that will be starting in a few weeks.
4. Pray for our family for protection both physically, and spiritually.
