Missionaries to

BOLIVIA

Blessings all Around:

We praise the Lord for how He has been blessing the ministry and churches here in Bolivia. On August 6th we celebrated Independence Day, and the church in Pacata had a special activity. They divided into two groups, and each group prepared a meal that is typical here in Bolivia, along with special music sung Bolivian style. They had a great group with close to 50 attending and several visitors. The church in Cochabamba recently had a kid's activity to try and reactivate the kid's ministry and to reach new families in the community. They had special games, a snack and the gospel were shared with over fifty children; plus, more than ten parents that came with their children. At the end, they all received a special gift that was given by an organization here that helps children. They had been inviting friends and people from the community for a couple of weeks and the Lord really blessed. Also, with the church in Quillacollo, we finally got the last paper that was needed to approve the building plans and hope that everything will be finalized within the next week or so. We have also been surveying several areas of the city, praying about where to possibly start our next church. We are excited about what the next few months will bring and how the Lord is going to continue to bless.

Back to School:

We had a return to school this past month both with our children and with our Bible College, and both are in person. We were able to start our Home School co-op with two other families here and we have a young lady that is heading things up and helping with the administrative part of it. This really helps because it frees Beth up to do more in the ministry and gives our children classmates to interact with. The Bolivian Pastors and I also started classes in our Bible College, after taking a trimester off because of Covid. We are offering five classes including Pauline Epistles, Personal Finances, Methods of Bible Study, Lessons for Young Pastors, and Missions. To me, teaching in our Bible College is one of the things that I enjoy most. Being able to invest in other's lives, and help prepare them for what the Lord has in the future, is worth all the work and effort. Our goal is to train and prepare both our children and those in our Bible College to do great things for the Lord one day.

Twenty Years and Counting:

This past month Beth and I celebrated twenty years of marriage and serving the Lord together. When we first got married, twenty years seemed like a long time, but I can honestly say that these years have flown by and have been some of the best years of my life. Not only do we make a great team in the ministry, but there is nothing like sharing life and family together. We have been able to grow and change together and have more fun today than we did in the beginning. Our family is quickly shrinking as we have one daughter in college and one that will be going in two years. That will only leave three of us and soon we will be back to two. Although I love being with my kids, as a family, I can't wait to spend the next twenty years continuing to do what we do right now. I can honestly say, as the Bible says, "Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing."

Prayer Requests:

1. Pray for the churches here that the Lord will continue to bless and give them fruit.
2. Pray for the church in Quillacollo as they begin to build and have services.
3. Pray for us as we seek the Lord's guidance on where to start a new church.
4. Pray for our family that the Lord will continue to protect and bless us.
